Who IS this anyway?

Stop the presses. Two women who used to look a certain way, now look different.

Renee Zellweger had the audacity to change her look. Now, Uma Thurman has done so! CTV put it this way: "Uma Thurman has Zellwegered her face." And if you follow the CTV link, you can use a slider to examine her before and after pictures, which is your right, as a consumer of media!!!!!!

And who is THIS?

1. What have they DONE to themselves?
2. Does it matter?
3. Who are we to ask?
4. What do they owe us?
5. Should we expect to see them always the same?
6. What are we entitled to?
7. Should they have asked our permission to change/age/alter/be-without-makeup/whatever?
8. Will this hurt their career?
9. Will people long for how we used to know them?
10. Have we ever REALLY known them?
11. Was age to blame?

12. Are they ageing?
13. Can't they stop that?
14. Are we capable of accepting them as older people?
15. They're not in their 40s are they?
16. Do we end up feeling older by looking at them age/change their look?
17. Do we value wisdom or elders?
18. Do we fear death?
19. Who makes us so ageist?
20. Can we blame corporations, the corporate media, consumer culture, celebrity worship?
21. Can we blame ourselves?
22. Is it our fault that this is even a story?
23. Have I asked all the questions that need to be asked?
