I haven't been able to get this image out of my head for days.

It keeps coming back.

It keeps asking me why we all feel so disconnected from nature all the time, in the bubble of our cars, smart phones and wifi lives.

Ecology is in the corner of your eye. Darting over there. It's the SQUIRREL that isn't actually the distraction.

It's the weekend. Click on the image, and notice the things that populate the corner of your eye.
