

Expanding Our 2014 Boycott List: #BoycottLoblaws

by Stephen Elliott-Buckley - Thursday, April 10, 2014

<https://politicsrespun.org/2014/04/expanding-our-2014-boycott-list-boycottloblaws/>

First, it started with IKEA, which has been locking out its Richmond, BC workers for 11 months. Then it expanded to a white Richmond farmer who isn't all that happy with all the non-white farmers changing the complexion of farming in BC.

So we're all committing to #BoycottIKEA and boycotting W & A Farms products.

Now, it's Loblaws/ExtraFoods/T&T/RealCanadianSuperstore that needs a hefty, long-term boycott.

A portion of every dollar you spend at any of that chain's stores goes to fund the anti-social Fraser Institute and its campaigns to destroy the public education system in Canada.

[The \[Weston\] family foundation has donated](#) nearly $22 million to the Fraser Institute for its programs to destabilize the public education system and promote school choice and vouchers.

Milton Friedman was the inspiration for these programs. His 1995 Washington Post editorial said it all: "Public schools: Make them private." And that's what the Weston-Fraser partnership has set out to do.

But, wait, there's more!

The Fraser Institute's ability to obtain such vast sums from Weston may hinge on the fact that two Galen Weston cousins are Fraser Institute directors. They're also on the board of the family foundation that doles out the money.

And it's fine for people to express opinions and fund whatever they way. Within constitutional limits. But it's also within our rights to oppose and boycott companies that are reprobates with anti-social tendencies.

So the 2014 boycott list is hereby expanded:

1. IKEAs all around the world, #BoycottIKEA
2. W&A Farm products from Richmond
3. All Loblaw chain stores: #BoycottLoblaws

Sing it, people! :)