

What's Wrong with Canada? We're Not Denmark-ish

by Stephen Elliott-Buckley - Monday, March 23, 2015

<https://politicsrespun.org/2015/03/whats-wrong-with-canada-were-not-denmark-ish/>

And I don't mean we need to become Denmark, but we need to have the dialogue about why they can do what they do and we choose not to.

When Canadians are surveyed, a very large majority of us support these public goods. But those desires get subsumed with corporate, neoliberal, right wing government-cut rhetoric.

We need to explore the political sociology of Denmark to understand how they embraced the tax commitment to provide these public goods.

We can be Denmark, but we choose not to.

We need to respin the messages from the tax-hating corporations and make the economy serve human beings better!